Crab a la Turf

Something called the Crab International Association (CIA) has announced that something called the first International Grand Prix for crabs will be held Mar. 27 in San Diego.

According to the CIA, special grandstands will be erected around to 24-foot oval track to accommodate an expected turnout of 5,000 crab racing aficionados.

And to think that some people are worried about what other people are doing to find to do with all the leisure that some people say is just around the corner.
